- In principle, there is no intention on the part of the data controller to transfer the personal data to a third country or an international organization. Through the use of Microsoft Office 365 or other MS cloud applications, there may be a partial transfer of personal data to the USA, e.g. in the context of support services from Microsoft. Part of the order processing contract with Microsoft is EU 5 standard contractual clauses, which are suitable guarantees for data transfer in third countries according to Art. 46 para. 2 lit. c GDPR.

Data processing outside the European Union

Data processing outside the European Union (EU) does not take place as a matter of principle, as we have restricted our primary storage location to data centers in the European Union. However, we cannot rule out the possibility that the routing of data from some applications takes place via internet servers that are located outside the EU. This can be the case in particular if, for example, participants in "online meetings" are located in a third country.

There is also the risk that, due to US jurisdiction, US authorities may view and process your data for control or monitoring purposes. This may also occur without any further legal remedy.

However, the data is encrypted during transport via the internet and thus protected against unauthorized access by third parties.

This may apply to the following applications: MS Teams.

Participation in an online meeting (e.g. MS-Teams)

Participation in such an event is voluntary. By registering, you consent to data processing (including US data transfer). You can decide at any time whether you would like to transmit images and/or sound of yourself during the event. If and to the extent that one actively decides to do so, this consent also includes that special categories of personal data (e.g. wearers of glasses, stiff limbs, speech impediments, wearers of religious symbols) may be transmitted and processed. Participation also implies consent to a possible recording and, if applicable, dissemination of the event. Both will be communicated in advance.

Data subject rights

- Under Art. 7 Para. 3 GDPR, you have the right to revoke your consent at any time. The consequence is that we may no longer continue the data processing based on this consent in the future;

- You have the right to request information about your personal data processed by us under Art. 15 GDPR.

According to Art.16 GDPR, you have the right to request the correction of inaccurate or incomplete personal data stored by us without undue delay

- You have the right to request the deletion of your personal data stored by us under Art. 17 GDPR, provided that there are no other reasons, such as the fulfillment of a legal obligation or the defense of legal claims, to the contrary.

- You have the right to request the restriction of the processing of your personal data under Art. 18 GDPR.

If your personal data are processed based on Art. 7. Para.3 of the GDPR, you have the right to object to the processing of your data under Art.3 21 of the GDPR, provided that there are grounds for doing so that arise from your particular situation.

- The controller shall notify all recipients to whom personal data have been disclosed of any rectification or erasure of the personal data or restriction of processing under Article 19 of the GDPR.

- You have the right under Article 20 of the GDPR to receive the personal data you have provided to us in a structured, commonly used, and machine-readable format or to request that it be transferred to another controller.

Data protection information according to Art. 12-19, 21 GDPR towards data subjects

- You have the right, according to Article 22, not to be subject to a decision based solely on automated processing, including profiling, which produces legal effects concerning you or similarly significantly affects you.
- You have the right to complain to a supervisory authority according to Art. 77 GDPR.
